Wrestling tournament seeks temporary home

Tuesday November 13, 1990

BOB KURLAND

The top wrestling extravaganza in North Jersey and maybe the entire state is looking for a temporary home. The Bergen County Coaches Holiday Wrestling Tournament is usually happily ensconced at Hackensack High, but this year the gym can't be used because of a problem with the bleachers.

Thus the 31st running of the event, which has drawn 45 schools this year, is looking for a site. "We love Hackensack," says tourney director George Jockish, "and we'll be back next year. But right now we're really in trouble because in a little more than a month we open the tournament."

Jockish says he's hoping Becton Regional is available, and he'll get his answer after its Board of Education meets on Wednesday. If that doesn't pan out, he might split the tournament at two schools. "We'd rather not, and it could be we would run the tournament on a Thursday and Saturday," says Jockish.

Wrestling fans usually fill the stands for this event. It's something they look forward to each year as a great season preview. It also gives them something to talk about for the rest of the campaign. Jockish checked out Fairleigh Dickinson's Rothman Center, but it won't be available. It would be a shame if it isn't held this year, so let's hope some good Samaritan school — with 45 entered, you would think a couple would offer their sites — will come through to keep it going.

Becton to host Bergen wrestling tournament

BOB KURLAND

Christmas arrived early for George Jockish when he learned the East Rutherford-Carlstadt Board of Education had approved the use of the Becton Regional gym for the upcoming Bergen County Coaches Holiday Wrestling Tournament.

Jockish, the tournament director, looked like a man about to be pinned when the tournament's usual home, Hackensack, became unavailable because repairs have to be made on the gym's bleachers.

"I'm really happy Becton came through," Jockish said. "But we will have to split the days so the tourney will open Dec. 27 and conclude the 29th. My main worry now is how to get every one who wants to see the matches into the gym. Becton is about half the size of Hackensack."

In an effort to alleviate overcrowding, the weigh-ins will be split into morning and afternoon sessions.

HIGH SCHOOLS

"They'll start wrestling right after we weigh them," Jockish said. "Hopefully that will clear out enough people to make room for the afternoon bouts."

BC in position for Bergen title

WRESTLING

EAST RUTHERFORD — Dan Haemmerle is in the same position as last season.

The Bergen Catholic senior won three bouts Thursday at 135 pounds to advance to Saturday's semifinals of the 31st Bergen County Coaches Association Holiday Wrestling Tournament at Becton.

Haemmerle, who last year was seeded No. 1 at 125 pounds but lost in the finals to Fort Lee's Nelson Cruz, is again seeded No. 1. The semifinals begin at 11 a.m., with the final tentatively set for 8 p.m.

"I wrestled pretty good today, and I felt pretty good," Haemmerle said. "But now we're at the point where being the No. 1 seed doesn't mean much."

"This year he should do it," Bergen Catholic coach John Direnzo said of Haemmerle. "He could go all the way to the State title."

Bergen Catholic is in position to capture the tournament title and end Fair Lawn's streak of five consecutive all-group titles. Haemmerle, who had two technical falls and a pin to advance, is among five Crusaders headed for the semifinals.

Joining Haemmerle in the final 52 competing in 13 weight classes are teammates Jason Hernandez (112 pounds), John Hernandez (125), Justin Naddeo (140), and Brian Baskinger (160).

The Crusaders are the only school among the 45 invitees to place more than three wrestlers into the semifinals. North Bergen, Garfield, and Paramus have three apiece, while 10 schools saw two advance.

"Our team has a lot of guys in the semis, but other teams like Pascack Valley seem to be doing well," Haemmerle said. "So it's going to be close for the team title."

"This is one of our best teams ever," said Direnzo, whose team placed second in the County tournament in 1982. "To win, we have to get at least three or four kids into the final, and also do well in the wrestlebacks."

If Haemmerle's Thursday performance is any indication, BC should have at least one in the final. Following two second-period technical falls, Haemmerle finished with a quarterfinal pin of Westwood's Steve Martin in 52 seconds.

Four 1989 champions competed and all advanced to the semifinals. Evan Dolan of Hasbrouck Heights, last season's 103-pound champ, reached at 125. Evan LaManna of Elmwood Park, last year's winner at 152, advanced at 160.

The other two champions could meet in a much-anticipated 119-pound final. Anthony Riotto of St. Joseph, defending 119-pound champ, and Lyndhurst's Mike DeLuca, last season's 112 winner, need one victory to force the meeting.

Sixteen team points are awarded for first-place. Teams who advanced two into the semifinals were Cliffside Park, Westwood, Lyndhurst, Fort Lee, St. Joseph, Hasbrouck Heights, Lodi, Elmwood Park, Pascack Valley, and Palisades Park.

Freshmen set stage for 119-pound thriller

EAST RUTHERFORD — Two freshmen nearly stole the spotlight from a pair of returning champions Saturday in the Bergen County Coaches Holiday Wrestling Tournament. That's how precocious the freshmen are this season.

Freshmen Mike McNeil of North Bergen and Jason Hernandez of Bergen Catholic brought down the house at Becton High School by winning back-to-back championships. Hernandez walked off with the major prize, the Paul Tashian Outstanding Wrestler Award.

And then, in the big battle of upperclassmen, Mike DeLuca of Lyndhurst edged Anthony Riotto of St. Joseph in overtime for the 119-pound title.

Bergen Catholic dominated the tournament to win its first team championship.

Hernandez, a former State seventh- and eighth-grade champion, was joined in the winner's circle by BC teammates Dan Haemmerle (135 pounds) and Justin Naddeo (140).

The tie between the two returning County champions was broken on Criteria No. 3 — greater number of takedowns, which made DeLuca's strategy look good.

"We knew if we could take him down, we'd win the match," said DeLuca's coach, Rich Vartan. "That was the whole plan."

DeLuca raised plenty of eyebrows with his decision to let Riotto up twice during the bout, particularly when he did it with seven seconds left in overtime, to tie the score at 6-6.

"I screamed to him, 'Let him go,' but Mike didn't understand at first," Vartan said. "But I said, 'Listen to me. You win on criteria.' He shook his head and let him up."

Riotto had scored a driving reversal for a 5-4 lead with 27 seconds left, but DeLuca reversed with 16 seconds to go and then went with the let-him-up strategy that paid off.

Sat Dec 29, 1990

McNeil and Westwood sophomore Dan Bornstein continually countered each other until McNeil — brother of Region 2 standout Ryan McNeil — scored a neutral point in the third period and added two on a takedown for his 4-0 win.

Hernandez pinned Fair Lawn junior Joe Dempsey in 2:56 with a cross-body cradle.

DeLuca, Evan Dolan (125) of Hasbrouck Heights, and Evan LaManna (160) repeated as County champions.

Dolan did it by outlasting John Hernandez of Bergen Catholic, 9-8, with a reversal several seconds after being reversed himself. Hernandez is Jason's older brother.

LaManna was taken down by Dumont's Pete Bruger to open their match, but he reversed Bruger to his back for a 4-2 lead and reversed again in the second period for breathing room.

Also winning championships were Westwood's John Gargano — with a pin at 130 pounds — along with Dave Takach of Garfield, Brian Bonomo of Lodi, Anthony Aiello of Paramus, Rob Scalo of Ridgefield Park (with a 75-second pin), and Michael Valenti of Hasbrouck Heights.

Outside of Bergen Catholic, Heights was the only team with two champions.

Scalo won the tournament pin trophy with four falls in 7 minutes, 19 seconds.

BC also won the Group 4 championship. Group 3 Paramus, Group 2 Garfield, and Group 1 Hasbrouck Heights were the other honored teams.

Garfield tandem ousts top seeds

EAST RUTHERFORD — A number of top-seeded wrestlers never made it past the semifinals Saturday at the Bergen County Coaches Association Holiday Wrestling Tournament at Becton High School. That came as no suprise to Garfield coach Greg Kulig.

Two of Kulig's senior wrestlers knocked off No. 1 seeds in the semis. Julio Collazo pinned Bergenfield's Mark Senzamici 22 seconds into overtime to reach the final at 140 pounds. In the 145-pound semifinals, Garfield's Dave Takach defeated Pascack Valley's Joe Allgor, 11-7.

"I didn't care where they [Takach and Collazo] were seeded. I thought they'd both be in the finals," Kulig said.

Takach and Collazo were undefeated entering Saturday evening's finals. Although Takach went 24-1 last year, he injured a shoulder late in the season and missed the districts and regionals. Takach used this tournament to continue his comeback.

"A kid could always fall back and say, 'My shoulder hurts,' but for him [Takach] it's strictly personal," Kulig said. "He wants to win this tournament. His goal is to win this tournament and go from there."

SEMIFINALS

Takach faced Paramus' Craig Ross (a winner by default over Palisades Park's Vlasios Kantartzis) in the final.

In Collazo's overtime victory, the 140-pounder rallied from a 7-4 deficit to tie the match and then pinned Senzamici in the extra period. Collazo met Bergen Catholic's Justin Naddeo, who pinned Bogota's Wade Frazee at 4:36.

Kulig says Collazo will have to be at his best to top Naddeo in the final.

"He's got a real tough match coming up next, probably his toughest of the tournament," Kulig said of Collazo. "He can wrestle anybody. He's in shape to do it. He's ready."

Two Westwood wrestlers posted semifinal victories. At 130-pounds, John Gargano defeated Lodi's George Murphy, 6-4. In the quarterfinals, Gargano defeated No. 1 seed Ray Sodora of Bergen Catholic, 10-5. Gargano faced Elmwood Park's Joe Fulco, an 11-2 winner over St. Joseph's Andrew Baeli.

In the 103-pound semi, Westwood's Dan Bornstein pinned Fort Lee's Amos Schwartzfarb at 5:39. Bornstein took on North Bergen's Mike McNeil, who reached the final because Pascack Hills No. 1 seed Doug James forfeited due to a stomach injury.

Bergen Catholic put four wrestlers in the finals: Naddeo, Dan Haemmerle at 135 pounds, and brothers John and Jason Hernandez. In the 125-pound semi, John Hernandez defeated Teaneck's Ilin Martinez, 6-2. At 112 pounds, Jason Hernandez defeated Cliffside Park's Kevin Piterski, 3-2.

BC's success a top attraction

County champs have no need to recruit

WRESTLING

Coaches at parochial schools hear it all the time — the insinuations that they have abig advantage because they draw athletes from a wide area. If their teams excel, they are suspected of recruiting.

"I would be disturbed, too, if I coached in public school," Bergen Catholic coach John Direnzo said after his team rolled to the Bergen County Coaches Holiday tournament championship by 49 points over runner-up Paramus. "But, absolutely not, we do not recruit."

It's true that the Crusaders' three champions — Justin Naddeo, Dan Haemmerle, and Most Outstanding Wrestler Jason Hernandez — came from strong recreation programs in Lodi, Hasbrouck Heights, and Closter, respectively. But several of BC's major point scorers didn't take up the sport until high school.

"It's a 50-50 balance," Direnzo said. "Brian Baskinger [bronze medalist at 160 pounds] wasn't in a rec program, Matt Passante never wrestled before high school, Mihran Torosian didn't, and Joe Mindak didn't. We don't recruit. The program has gotten to the point where it speaks for itself. Kids want to be part of something successful, and we're close, like a family, here."

And more wrestlers will want to be a part of this success story, now that BC stands at the top of the 44-team field, believed to be the largest scholastic wrestling tournament in the United States.

Hernandez, a freshman, had veteran coaches agog and predicting great things for him.

NUMERICAL AGONY — When Lodi's Brian Bonomo let his opponent escape late in the 152-pound title bout, his team suffered because his lead dropped to 10-3. A win by eight points provides a team with one extra tournament point, which in Lodi's case was extremely valuable. However, Bonomo notched a single-leg takedown with four seconds left for a 12-3 win, giving Lodi the point that tied Old Tappan for 10th place in the final standings.

SERIOUS SUMMERS — Ridgefield Park coach Tony Gonzalez appreciated the inscription on Bergen Catholic's T-shirts: "Summertime wrestling makes wintertime champions."

His 189-pound County champion, Rob Scalo, deserves a shirt. Scalo won the tournament pin trophy for flattening four opponents in a combined 7 minutes, 19 seconds. Gonzales said, "He's a 16-year-old senior and he's only been wrestling two years. But he wrestled all summer at The Edge, and people just don't give those people credit."

The Edge, a wrestling camp in Nutley, is run by Ernie Monaco, the oldest brother in a famous wrestling family. Monaco has instructed more than 100 eventual district champions.

EVEN AND EVANS — Talent was well distributed, as 17 teams were represented in the 13 championship bouts. History was made when two wrestlers named Evan repeated as County champions: Evan Dolan of Hasbrouck Heights and Evan LaManna of Elmwood Park.

NOTES — "He's won despite me," said Bogota coach Ken MacIver about 152-pound runner-up Peter Lane. "I forgot to seed him, so it [his seeding] was picked out of a hat." Lane defeated the second and third seeds to advance... The most entertaining championship bout was Dolan's 9-8 win over BC junior John Hernandez, a reversal-filled tradeoff at 125... Naddeo came back from a 4-1 deficit and almost ruined his comeback when he gave up a leg to Garfield's Julio Collazo in the third period. But Naddeo underhooked for the clinching takedown, 7-4.

LaManna had a nice four-point reversal early in the 152 bout and then fought out of a far-side cradle attempt by Dumont's Pete Bruger in the third... When Dave Takach of Garfield topped Craig Ross of Paramus, 5-1, for the 145 title, it drew their teams into a second-place tie. Three bouts later, Anthony Aiello of Paramus used a step-over reversal to tie his 171 match with Emerson's Sean Leeds, and pulled him back into a cradle for a 3:23 pin. That gave Paramus second place... Group champions: BC (Group 4), Paramus (Group 3), Garfield (Group 2), and Hasbrouck Heights (Group 1).

Westwood's program opened many eyes. Sophomore John Gargano pancaked for a pin and the 130-pound title, and classmate Dan Bornstein finished second at 103 pounds. Jim Gallione's Cardinals have three seniors in their entire program and scored a surprising 90.5 points to finish fourth overall and second in Group 2... Haemmerle's brother, Mike, won in 1987... Sam Ferrell of Dwight-Englewood recorded five takedowns for his bronze medal at 152 pounds... A reversal and two back points gave Rich Katz of Palisades Park the bronze at 171... Bill Sommers of Rutherford and Joe Zdep of Lyndhurst used takedowns to finish third at 189 and heavyweight, respectively.

WRESTLING NOTEBOOK

RON FOX

Brian Bonomo did more than win a championship and steer Lodi to its highest Bergen County tournament finish in history Saturday. The key is that Bonomo wrestled determinedly and survived.

After being racked by the flu for more than a week, the weakened Bonomo dispatched his first-round opponent Dec. 27, and then everything went black.

"I passed out; I didn't know where I was," the 152-pound champion senior said.

He felt awful — Bonomo told anyone who would listen that he wasn't wrestling. Bonomo recalled a trainer from another team coming over and telling him to stick with it.

"Get away from me," was Bonomo's quick response. "But he told me to jump in the shower, and I did, and I felt a little better."

The rugged Bonomo came back for another round and won handily. Two days later, he won twice again.

"I lost in the finals last year, and I felt bad about that," said Bonomo, who placed fourth in the state last season and is 51-3 in his career. "This time, I was wrestling just to get my points. I wasn't out to kill the kid, I just wanted to get through. This time, I was going against the flu and my opponent. My muscles were aching."

Bonomo's superior decision in the final gave his team the necessary point to tie Northern Valley at Old Tappan for 10th place. And he became only the second Lodi wrestler to win a county championship. The first was Ray Barker, a classmate of Bonomo's father in 1960 and, until this season, head coach at Northern Valley at Demarest.

THANKS, HOSTS — The decision-makers at Becton can't be thanked enough for their 12th-hour offer to play host and therefore rescue the Bergen County tournament. It seemed there was nowhere to turn when the usual site, Hackensack High School, wasn't available because of problems with its bleachers.

"The tournament was within three weeks of not being held this year," director George Jockish said. Before the championship round, Jockish publicly thanked the school's principal, athletic director, and board of education for their compassion and their action.

SPECIAL PEOPLE — After 20 years of undeserved anonymity, Edd Fitzgerald finally received his due. The former Teaneck wrestler has served on the tournament committee since 1970, performing a variety of difficult tasks, including keeping the intricate team scoring chart. Fitzgerald and Emerson coach Stan Woods received William F. Powley Service to Wrestling awards. Woods, who is closing in on his 300th coaching victory, has held many titles and has benefited state wrestling by serving on the New Jersey State Interscholastic Athletic Association's wrestling committee since 1978.

OUT OF ACTION — Pete Zanchelli of Ramapo, third in the state and a Bergen County champion as a junior last season, couldn't defend his title because of an ankle injury.

"We run before practice, and Pete took a bad step," Ramapo coach Dave Pepe said. "He had [ankle] ligament damage, and he was on crutches for the County tournament. It was frustrating for him because Pete has a lot of confidence in his ability, and he really wanted a shot at winning it twice. We're just relieved it wasn't a break. He should be back around the 10th of January."

Returning bronze medalist Doug James of Pascack Hills had early-round success but had to pull out of the tournament because of a combination of illness and muscle cramps of the stomach. Appendicitis was ruled out, coach Jack Lehmann said.
